

INTHISAB 21

In connection with "INTHISAB 21" PG Department of Arabic organized a two day online workshop on "Research Methodology" on 23.12.2021 and 24.12.2021. The program was exclusively meant for Post Graduate students of the department which helped them to improve the quality of their project work. Dr. Ali Noufal (Head, PG & Research Department of Arabic, Farook College) was the Resource Person of the workshop. All aspects of a quality research were discussed during the sessions. It was a great opportunity for participants to clear their doubts before entering into the research and a help to make their synopsis better in the final year project. During the session the resource person has given a blueprint of the research and explained the ways how to improve the quality of the research.
